Virtual Ultimatum Is Sent to Russia

France and Britain Set Deadline
For European Economic Recovery

PARIS, June 19—(P)—France and Great Britain have given Russia until Monday to decide whether she wants to participate in a collective effort to put postwar Europe back on its economic feet with American help—or see continental reconstruction organized without the Soviet Union.

They sent a note to Moscow last night inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin during the week of June 23 concerning steps to implement the European recovery plan suggested by U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

I looked out of the window just now and saw a huge truck rolling along at 35 miles per hour, and hauling eight sizeable logs to the Willis Lumber Co. mill here, where the logs, all white oak, will be reduced to choice lumber.

A great many of you folks recall when such logs were hauled into the city, or to the numerous sawmills throughout the county, by horsepower, and how it required several times as long to move the timber to the mills.

But I am thinking back still further to the days when oxen were used almost exclusively for heavy hauling, and how these strong animals, using the crude yokes which were primitive to say the least, slowly plodded over the mud roads, pulling the ox-carts and log wagons to get the timber from stump to mill.

In those days white and burr oak trees five feet in diameter, were common, and there were tens of millions of feet of the finest kind of hardwood lumber available here.

Mills were located along main roads at frequent intervals, to convert the logs into lumber, and then the laborious task of moving the lumber to market was carried out in much the same way as moving the logs.

When the first settlers came to Fayette County, their main object was to cut away the timber and burn it, to convert the virgin soil into farm lands.

In this way probably as much choice timber was burned, as was cut for market in the county, and huge log heaps, burning for two or three days and nights, would cast their glow into the midnight skies from many a "clearing" in the county.

Likewise vast quantities of choice white oak, walnut, burr oak, and other timber, went into fence rails, for those days poles and rail fences formed the only method of fencing off lands to retain livestock and at the same time to keep out livestock of the neighbors.

Funny isn't it how a passing load of logs will start one thinking!

'Ghost Ship' Sails With Cargo of Ore

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 19—(P)—The "Ghost Ship" Jupiter was downbound on Lake Superior with a load of iron ore today after clearing port here yesterday while a court hearing aimed at tying her up was in progress.

The 7,000-ton vessel has roamed the Great Lakes for nearly a month while national maritime union officials sought to halt her on grounds she is improperly manned.

Limit Agreed on For Hospital Foundation Fund

Plans Taking Form
For Organization to Be Enlarged

To avoid possible questions of future costly administration and financing, conceived as probable if its field of operation should be extended too broadly, it has been decided by those responsible for the Fayette County Foundation fund movement to limit, for the present, the organization's program to activities concerned with the proposed county hospital here and certain phases of hospitalization.

This hospital foundation fund idea has no connection with the hospital board or its future administration but, as planned at present, will be an entirely separate organization which will deal with future hospital problems, especially in matters of finance as they may arise, in cooperation with the hospital board of trustees.

Attorneys Advise

This general agreement was reached at a meeting held in the office of Judge Rell G. Allen, Wednesday evening. The conference was attended by the group of business men who for many months have been interested in promoting a foundation fund movement here, together with a committee of attorneys representing the Fayette County Bar Association. The attorneys met with this group to discuss general purposes and aims of the proposed organization and will report its findings to the bar association. It is considered probable that the committee will recommend that the bar association shall name a permanent committee to work in future with the foundation fund organizers with relation to a formation of a charter and other future plans.

It was also agreed at Wednesday's meeting that the foundation fund group gradually would be enlarged so as to embrace county-wide representation in order to achieve the broadest possible scope and thought in mapping out future activities within the organization's field of endeavor.

No Compensation
It has been decided also that all persons connected with the proposed organization, as now constituted, will receive no compensation. (Please Turn to Page Fifteen)

Bomb Wrecks Car Of Ex-Dry Agent

CLEVELAND, June 19—(P)—A car owned by former State Liquor Enforcement Chief William Kelch and parked in front of his westside home was partially destroyed early today by a bomb blast which smashed windows within a 250-foot radius.

The car was unoccupied. Bits of metal were sent flying in all directions, one piece embedding itself in the front porch pillar of a home 200 feet away.

Kelch, who recently resigned his state post, said he was in the kitchen at the time of the blast, 3 A. M., and had recently returned home. His wife and two daughters were in the house also.

He said he had no idea who had planted the charge or for what reason.

Detectives said the bomb had been placed beneath the hood of the car.

Grudge Fire Is Confessed

MARION, June 19—(P)—Asst. State Fire Marshal Gayle H. Owens said today Orval L. Blankenship, 23, Marion, admitted in a signed statement that he set the fire which caused $90,000 in damage to the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer Co. last May 16.

Blankenship said in the statement, Owens reported, that he held malice towards George Albert, plant owner for whom the youth worked from April 13 to May 4.

Owens said he would file arson charges against Blankenship in municipal court here.

The frame and sheet metal plant now is being rebuilt.

Village Engulfed As Flood Spreads

Thousands of Acres Inundated
As Levees Fall Under Pressure

OAKVILLE, Ia., June 19—(P)—Residents of this almost-deserted southeast Iowa village watched from a distance today as the swirling flood waters of the Iowa River engulfed the town.

The river, which had created havoc for miles upstream flooding thousands of acres of farm land, was at a standstill late last night and Mayor O. D. Johnson said "I don't believe it will get any higher."

The community of 440 was deserted except for a few families and those on flood duty, Johnson said. All roads leading into the village were impassable as the flood waters reached the city limits.

The built-up roadbed of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad which serves as a two and a half mile long levee, was cracking steadily. The result was a formation of a lake eight miles long and four miles wide, backed up against a levee along the Mississippi River. The Iowa River empties into the Mississippi about five miles from here.

South of here on the Mississippi, which also is the intake for the flooded Des Moines River, residents were warned of a second big overflow in about a week. After the crests of the Iowa and Des Moines Rivers are dumped into the Mississippi the latter is expected to approach, of not exceed, the record stages set last week as far south as Louisiana, Mo.

1,800-mile Cruise In Homemade Boat Started by Family

CLEVELAND, June 19—(P)—In a homemade houseboat manned by a "crew" composed of their four children, Cleveland's "sailing Shepards" embark Saturday on an 1,800-mile cruise of New York and Canadian waters.

Junior high school teacher C. F. Shepard and his wife, who report the family's travelogue in a newspaper series, will tow their boat, "the Polyvog," to Buffalo, N. Y., where the seven-mile-an-hour trip will begin in the Erie Canal.

Veterans of a 2,500-mile vacation cruise over midwestern rivers last summer, the Shepards have charted their course to New York harbor, north on the Hudson, through the Champlain canal and west on the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers to the Rideau River, which leads to their destination of Kingston, Ont.

Expecting to pass through 120 locks, the family also hopes to catch enough fish to "keep our ice box stocked" to meet the appetites of 15-year-old twins, George and Peter Shepard, Honey, 12, and Larry, 8, said Mrs. Shepard.

Union Is Rich; Set for Fight

$46,723,000 Assets
To Be Ammunition

CLEVELAND, June 19—(P)—

Although the AFL-International Ladies Garment Workers have total cash assets of more than $46,723,000, the union will face a period of greater financial outlays because of "restricting anti-labor laws being enacted by Congress," says the ILGWU president.

Disclosing in a news conference last night that the union had reached a record of total assets, President David Dubinsky said the group's cash balance and other funds had been built up during the last three years when it had little expense for organization and strikes.

Assets held by the international and local unions include $13,404,938 in general funds of 446 locals, 23 joint boards and 17 departmental funds; $23,978,439 in health and welfare funds donated by employers and controlled by joint boards and locals; $7,483,213 in the ILGWU's general fund, and $1,856,728 in a death benefit fund.

In the last 15 years since Dubinsky became president of the union, the ILGWU's membership has increased from 40,000 to 400,000 unionists and the international union's cash balance has soared from $29,260 to $7,483,213, he reported.

The financial statement, determined during a three-year period beginning April 1, 1944, showed general office receipts of $10,755,841 and disbursements of $10,002,677.

Minimum Wage Of Ohio Is Upheld

COLUMBUS, June 19—(P)—Ohio's minimum wage law was held constitutional today by an Ohio Supreme Court ruling against the Athens Steam Laundry.

The high tribunal held that former Director of Industrial Relations George A. Strain was within his rights in bringing suit against the laundry, operated by Walter S. Southerton and Carl R. Wilson, to collect minimum wage claims of two women employees.

The decision upheld the appellate court which had reversed a common pleas ruling that the law was invalid. The judgement means that the Athens County court now must determine whether the two workers were underpaid—and, if so, how much.

Chris Russell at police headquarters

MIAMI, Fla., June 19—(P)—Mrs. W. H. Gay, of Kershaw, S. C., maternal grandmother of Peggy Russell, 11, and John Russell, 7, whose father confessed bludgeoning them to death here early yesterday, asked circuit court today for custody of the bodies for burial in Kershaw.

Mrs. Gay talked last night with the father, 59-year-old Chris Russell. Detective Sergeant John L. Deas said Russell readily admitted killing his two children with a baseball bat and shooting two of his neighbors when they sought to have the children placed in a home because he was an "unfit father."

No Intention of Resigning Post Spokesman for Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, June 19—(P)—Maj. Gen. F. L. Parks said today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been approached regarding the presidency of Columbia University, New York, but has no intention of quitting as army chief of staff this year.

Parks, who is chief of the army public information division, said the suggestion that Eisenhower consider the vacant university presidency, came from certain members of the board of trustees of Columbia, but he is not in a position to discuss the matter at this time.

Eisenhower authorized Parks to issue the following statement: "General Eisenhower has directed me to say that he has no intention of leaving his present assignment as chief of staff during the current year, and never without the full approval of the secretary of war and the president."

"In determining any future activity upon which he might embark at the conclusion of his duties as chief of staff, he would like to utilize his energies in something connected with public service of non-political nature."

"One suggestion he has received from certain members of the board of trustees of Columbia University that he consider the presidency thereof. But he is not in a position to discuss the matter at this time."

"If and when General Eisenhower makes a commitment as to his future plans, an announcement will be made to the press. In any event, he will not consider any engagement effective until after his superiors have released him from his present duty."

Parks issued the statement after publication of reports that Eisenhower had resigned as army chief of staff to become head of Columbia next fall.

15 Are Killed But 22 Survive Forced Landing

Details of Disaster
Are Still Scarce;
Three Reported Hurt

NEW YORK, June 19—(P)—Fifteen persons of 37 aboard the Pan American World Airways Constellation Eclipse were killed early today when the giant liner crashed at Meyadine, Syria, while trying to make a forced landing, the airline announced.

Eight of the dead were passengers. Seven were crew members. The remaining 22 passengers and crew members were described as safe although an earlier report said three were seriously injured and seven were less critically hurt.

Pan American said no other details of the crash, which occurred while the plane was en route from Karachi to Istanbul, were available here. Names of the dead passengers were not known immediately.

Capt. Joseph Hall Hart, the pilot, who was born April 10, 1907 in Norwood, Penna., set a world record in January 1945 when he completed 12 trips across the South Atlantic in 13 days and 15 hours. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati in 1930, he attended the air corps flying school until 1931. He became a captain in 1935 and a master pilot in 1941.

The plane was enroute from Karachi, India, to Istanbul when it crashed while trying to make a forced landing near Emyadine, Syria.

First reports of the crash led to fears that it was the Clipper America, which left New York June 16 with a party of American publishers and officials aboard for the inaugural flight of Pan American's commercial round-the-world service.

Red Doublecross Attempt Charged

NEW YORK, June 19—(P)—An article in Liberty Magazine, titled "A Secret Russian Mission that Almost Changed History," says that Russia suggested a separate peace to Germany in January 1943, at a time when the Germans had been thrown back at Stalingrad and Rommel had suffered setbacks in North Africa.

Appearing today in the July 5 (CQ) issue of the magazine, the article was written by Dr. Paul Schwarz, member of the German Foreign Service for 20 years before the Nazis came to power, who became an American citizen and served in the O.S.S. during the war, and Guy Richards, Washington reporter.

The article said that under the Russian proposal, Germany was to give the Soviets a free hand behind a line roughly from Riga, on the Baltic, to the Dardanelles and aid Russia if she attacked Turkey, and Russia was to start immediately "to supply quantities of raw materials, including oil and manganese, to help sustain the German war effort elsewhere."

War Bond Found; Blown 40 Miles

TIFFIN, June 19—(P)—A war bond blown away when a tornado struck a trailer camp on the outskirts of Findlay early in May was recovered yesterday by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Max Frost of Findlay.

The bond was found by J. A. Schreiner, Seneca County farmer, on his farm near Bellevue, over 40 miles from the trailer camp. It was the second bond recovered by the Frosts. The first was found by a farmer 10 miles from Findlay.

Four Girls from This Community To Attend Girls' State

Recognizing the increasing importance of women in civic and political life, the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Ohio is sponsoring the first Buckeye Girls State, a week-long experiment in practical government at Capitol University in Columbus including four from this community for 300 high school girls, throughout the state.

The four from near here, Donna Jean McAfee of Good Hope, Frances Raypole of New Holland, Lois Faye Wiseman of Jeffersonville and Harriett Hamilton of Washington C. H., were chosen to attend the meeting which will begin Sunday. Miss Wiseman is being sponsored by the Gold Star Unit Auxiliary of Jeffersonville; Miss Raypole by the Arch Unit of New Holland and Miss Hamilton and Miss McAfee by the Paul H. Hughey Post Unit of Washington C. H.

Each of these girls was chosen by the auxiliaries from lists issued by the high school attesting qualifications of scholarship, leadership and character. The girls selected are not necessarily members of Legion or auxiliary families, but they must be sponsored by an auxiliary which pays a fee of $5 for each girl. A physical examination is also required. The state, which is set up to train the girls in their responsibilities as citizens, will be divided into two counties and 10 cities. The girls will elect state, county and city officials for the week, selected from two mythical political parties.

There will be 10 senior counselors, 10 junior counselors will help direct the girls' activities. There will also be two trained nurses on hand at all times. Mrs. Carl W. Zeller, of Gibsonburg, a past department president of the American Legion Auxiliary is director of the state.

Among the people who will assist in the state and speak to the girls will be the John W. Bricker, U. S. Senator; Miss Margaret Mahoney, state senator from Cleveland; Paul M. Herbert, lieutenant governor; Miss Goldie Edmonston, Columbus state representative; Mayor James Rhodes of Columbus; Mrs. Gordon Brown, mayor of Fairfield and Osborn, Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant, who will administer the oath of office to girls elected; and Mayor William E. Schneider of Bexley. Miss Christine Conway, dean of women at Ohio State University, and Mrs. Zeller will address the girls at the farewell program Saturday, June 28.

A tea for the four girls who are to attend will be given by the auxiliary here at 8 P. M. Friday in the Legion Hall.

Rules Under Which We Live

In a long editorial on the Senate labor bill, the New York Times said: "The history of this country has demonstrated that every so often one group or another has attained under the existing laws powers which threaten the preservation of our free society, and that the condition has been rectified by revising the rules under which we live."

There are two outstanding examples of that. Many years ago it became apparent that certain segments of American business had obtained monopolistic powers which threatened the common welfare. The people, acting through their federal and local governments, took measures to correct this through a long series of laws, beginning with the antitrust statutes.

The second example is in the headlines today. Labor is in much the same position as was capital at the turn of the century. A small number of labor leaders have obtained powers which are a direct and growing threat to all the people of the country—including the workingman himself.

A democratic country must correct these abuses—if democracy is to survive. The American people have had enough of labor monopoly, labor dictatorship, labor arrogance, labor terrorism. They have determined that no one shall have the "right" to deprive the country of essential goods and services by fiat, either by business or labor. They have determined that the workingman shall have a free voice in the conduct of union affairs. They have decided that the closed shop is intolerable in a supposedly free country. This is not an "anti-labor" movement. It is a movement to force labor to accept responsibilities commensurate with its powers.

Our Ailing Libraries

Americans will be surprised and shocked at the inadequacy of the nation's library system, as revealed by the report of the American Library Association's two-year study of those institutions.

About 35 million Americans, says the association's report, are without any libraries at the present time. More than 90 percent of those serving the other 96 million are lacking in space, well-trained personnel, and even contents. They simply cannot meet community needs with any sort of success.

The exhaustive report stresses that one can find in the United States not only the best public library service in the world, but also some of the worst. More than half the rural population is without any at all.

Our public libraries have provided incredibly good results with very inadequate resources for many years. Now, as a most valuable backbone for democracy, the system needs stiffening. Attention, serious discussion and funds are the only cures.

Our Only World

With the presidential commission at Washington forecasting national danger within a very few years of the restoration of international peace, it is doubtless worth while for any well-informed citizen to take note, more than usual, of what is happening. If war should come, it would presum-

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — Because its European "work projects" begun last year were so successful, the American Youth Hostels is sending some 250 members abroad again this year to help rebuild war-damaged hostels in various countries.

The work projects are being sponsored by European hostels during July and August in France, Belgium and Holland. More than 100 American Youth went abroad for this purpose last year.

In addition to the overseas project, American Youth Hostels is preparing to help more than 15,000 youths plan inexpensive vacations cycling and hiking through the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The AYH was founded at Northfield, Mass., in 1935. It is a non-profit-making, educational organization that makes travel possible for young people at low cost.

It is for all, regardless of race, religion or nationality.

Representatives of more than 100 youth organizations have at-its national council. Its national president is John G. Winant, former U. S. ambassador to England. John D. Rockefeller 3rd is chairman of the executive committee; Anthony B. Duke is treasurer, and Monroe D. Smith executive director.

Youth hostels are simple overnight accommodations for those who "travel" under their own steam—hiking, biking, canoeing, skiing, or horseback riding. There is a network of 250 such hostels strung out through 28 states in this country.

House parents maintain the hostels. They have separate bunk rooms and washrooms for boys and girls, a common kitchen where hostellers cook their own food. Some have a recreation room.

The charge is 25 cents a night plus a 10 cent fuel fee, with blankets and cooking utensils provided by the hostel. It is all very simple. The few rules include no hitch-hiking, no drinking, no smoking in the hostels and lights out at 10 o'clock.

First requirement for youth hostelling is a pass. This costs $1.50 for youths under 21 and $2.50 for those 21 or over. Passes are valid for a calendar year and are obtainable at any youth hostel or from national headquarters at Northfield, Mass.

Other necessities for qualification are the AYH Handbook-Apnapack which gives locations of all hostels, key maps of regions and details about each hostel; a sheet sleeping sack (carried by each hosteller to insure sanitation of hostel blankets); and eating utensils—knife, fork, spoon, cup and plate.

AYH is supported through the sale of passes, equipment, trips and contributions.

During the past 12 years, American hostellers have logged up 500,000 overnights in their own country. Some 10,000 of them have traveled abroad enjoying the welcome of affiliated hostels in 25 countries.

There may be only one effective way for statesmen and citizens in general to make the dangers plain, if they exist. Another war, in the dangerous garb of current hints on atomic destruction, could wreck at least a large part of the world. It is a small world, ours, and one of immense possibilities for good as well as evil. And it is the only world we have, this side of the Kingdom of Heaven. Obviously the way to save and enjoy it is to persuade the people in it to live at peace.

To promote individual thrift and to help reduce the national debt, the treasury department of the United States is pushing a program of buy-a-bond-a-month. Secretary Snyder announces that these savings bonds, with the help of the banking system of the country, can be purchased at regular intervals through withdrawal from checking accounts, the arrangements authorized by individuals and terminated at any time.

The plan is similar to the war savings promoted during the past to the great benefit of country and citizens alike. The opportunity should appeal no less because it is instead of a war aid, a national promotion of peace.

Out-Verning Verne

In 1873 the French author, Jules Verne, published his book, "Around the World in Eighty Days," and the public read its absurd extravaganzas with delight. In 1947, between June 17 and July 1, a group of this nation's leading newspaper editors and publishers undertook a globe-girdling stunt that makes the Jules Verne story look mild indeed.

The newspaperman's 13-day jaunt is in a big sleeper plane, one of Pan American World Airways' new Gold Plate Constellations. It began at New York and ends in San Francisco after stops in Ireland, England, Turkey, India, China, Japan, Guam, Wake, the Philippines and Hawaii. Pan American's president, who bears the appropriate name of Trippe, will accompany the gentlemen of the press on this flight to celebrate the launching of the first world-circling service in the history of commercial aviation.

It will be interesting to read the dispatches sent back by these men. One wonders whether even their astute minds will be able to digest the quick-moving kaleidoscope of impressions to which they will be subjected as they visit in such rapid succession so many divergent national scenes.

And maybe the ghost of Jules Verne will help them in their task.

Diet and Health

What to Do for Jaundice

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TO say that a person has jaundice means little because of the many different disorders which can produce this yellowish discoloration of the skin. When such a patient comes to a doctor, the doctor will know that bile pigments are collecting in the blood and tissues but only a careful study will reveal why; therefore if it is at all possible he will want his patient to go to the hospital where laboratory tests can be made to determine the cause.

According to Dr. Frederick Steigmann of Chicago, jaundice is not usually due to a disorder which requires immediate operation and sometimes operation is not needed at all.

Causes of Jaundice
Among the causes of jaundice are the blocking of the flow of bile from the liver, the presence of a stone in one of the biliary ducts or an infection of the liver.

Whatever the cause of the jaundice, the patient needs rest. Then he requires a carefully regulated diet. Every jaundiced patient should receive a diet high in calories, rich in starches and sugars, as well as in certain essential proteins from such foods as meat, milk and eggs. He should be supplied with plenty of vitamins, but the diet should be limited in fats. If the patient cannot take enough food by mouth, he may be given various sugar solutions by injections into the vein. He may be given a solution of amino acids which are a substance from which proteins are made. Vitamins may also be given by injection.

Itching of Skin

Jaundice is frequently accompanied by severe itching of the skin. To relieve this, special preparation of ergot, warm baths, or various remedies may be of value.

If the jaundice is accompanied by a severe infection, the sulfonamide products, as well as penicillin may be used without any fear, according to Dr. Steigmann.

If it is found, after careful study, that operation is required to get rid of the cause for jaundice, the treatment as mentioned above will aid in improving the patient's condition so that he is better able to withstand the operation.

The patient with jaundice should not be given any anesthetic such as ether which has a damaging effect on the liver. During the operation, it may be important also to give injections of epinephrine in order to keep up the blood pressure.

Bear in mind that jaundice is only a symptom and can be best treated when the cause has been found.

Can't Break His Good Habits!

Bert Childers was saying, it's funny how so many of our wartime habits stick with us.

Bert likes plenty of butter on his bread, but even now he can't get over spreading it like it was scarce as hen's teeth. And as a war worker, Bert used to stick to a temperate glass of beer on time off; and he still holds fast to beer and moderation.

Same way with Bert's wife. She not only has no trouble saving used fats, and waste paper. She's learned from wartime necessity to save every single thing that might possibly be used again.

From where I sit, it's mighty good that so many of these common-sense habits like thrift and moderation have stayed with us. ## CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

"I'LL TAKE that allowance, Dad, if you still want to give it to me."

It was a morning in August. Diane was perched on a corner of J. Emmet's desk.

J. Emmet should have felt some triumph in the moment, but instead he growled: "Why don't you eat more?" She was too thin; she was going too much on her nerve, he thought. "Blast it, she's the look of snapping any minute!"

Diane clasped one knee, leaned a little away from him. "And spoil my perfect fourteen figure?"

His eyes continued to brood on her. "You ought to go away this hot weather. Can't Bill see you should? Take you off somewhere?"

Diane's lips curled very slightly. "Bill is all wrapped up in politics. He couldn't leave the county for so much as an hour. Anyway, I'm having a grand time right here. Don't you read Sadie Poole, darling? I'm the wildest of the wild young things out at the very, very wild Hunt Club! And Sadie's right, we don't just lust for fun!"

J. Emmet muttered: "I don't like it." Not what she did, for he was not going to begin now interfering with her pleasures, but the defiant way she spoke of it. He added: "You're going too hard a pace!"

"But if it gets me—out?" For the moment desperation broke through Diane's guard, to betray her. The next she was laughing.

"You don't want me to waste my charm, do you? It isn't done, nowadays if you have it, you use it!" Troubled but helpless, J. Emmet rubbed one thumb slowly over the other.

"If it's the money, Dad—"

He breathed more easily; here was something he could put his hand to. "I'll deposit a five hundred for you in the bank, first of every month. Begin today. You can have all of that you want!" He smiled broadly. "Your dad's on the way to being the richest man this town ever knew!"

Diane slipped off the desk, smoothed her skirt down over her slim hips, blew a kiss to him from the tips of her fingers. "Well, you keep your mind on that, Joe, and forget me! I can take care of myself very well!"

He stared gloomily at the closed door long after Diane had run out through it. He muttered again: "I don't like it."

He had been relieved and proud at the courage she'd shown when the baby died. Not a tear, that anyone could see. Head up, all the time. She'd packed away the things in that room herself. Paula had told him. Wouldn't let even Paula help her. She'd gone off to play golf with some of her friends the next week.

In July he'd gone again to New York and taken Paula with him. The strings on his big deal had to be tied together. Just before he went Diane had brought him a batch of bills. "Clothes, Dad. I stepped out furiously and I'd rather Bill didn't pay for them." She had added: "Want to know what I did with that check you gave me a long time ago?"

"Didn't ask you, did I?"

But she had told him. "Took out a membership in the Mayfair Hunt Club. Everyone I know is in it."

He had approved of the new clothes and he got considerable satisfaction from her bringing the bills to him; it paid off young Arden some for his high-and-mighty attitude, when he married Diane. He was glad she'd joined that club. She liked horses, he knew. He had said to Paula that night, "Diane's coming along in fine shape."

But now he was acutely concerned. "If it gets me—out." She'd meant something, when she said that. Her animation, her tearing round from one thing to another, was a front she put on and maybe she was a little behind it than the baby. He sighed deeply. Even though he was her father, he was helpless to reach it.

Diane Carver found himself as helpless that evening. There was an informal dance at the Hunt Club and he had driven Diane out to it. They had been dancing together, then had gone out and down the steps to the wide sloping lawn, away from the house. His arm lay around her shoulders as they sauntered along, and in a shadow of a tree he drew her closer and kissed her. He'd done it very well, he considered.

"Don't, Danny."

If she'd said it with any kind of feeling he'd have taken it as an invitation for another. But her tone was wholly empty of expression; she put her fingers to her lips as if she didn't know what had touched them. He was nettled. "Why are you going stinky, Di? You know I've always been crazy about you and here, lately—" Not the thing, he realized, to tell a girl in plain terms she'd encouraged him, but certainly the moment justified it!

Diane saved him. She patted his cheek. "You think you have it coming to you, because I've been calling you up and asking you to take me places. Well, here, kiss me all you want to!" And she lifted her face close to his, her lips parted provocatively, her eyes aglint with laughter.

But Danny saw the shadow of a dark torment, lying deeper in them. "Changed my mind," he said, in an embarrassed voice. "Let's go have a drink!" He took her arm, swung her around. "And say, Di, get me right! I'm no end glad you call me, when Bill's tied up. It shows we're good pals. You keep on doing it. We'll, won't you?" he pressed anxiously.

"Probably," Diane answered carelessly, and then began to hum with the music that was pouring from the open windows of the house.

They did not go to the bar; at the door Lois came up to them, a strange man at her side.

"Di, here you are! Jimmie Mason wants to meet you!" Her tone said, "You know who he is!"

Diane knew, as did every other young woman in the club. The Meadowbrook polo player, golfer, yachtsman. Thad Corning had met him the summer before at Del Monte and he was staying now at the Hunt Club, as Thad's guest. He'd come in his own plane, made a daring landing in one of the meadows nearby; the plane was out there now.

"Dance?" he said to Diane, lifting a tweeded shoulder toward the room where the orchestra was playing. And without a word to Danny she moved away with him. Lois murmured: "Nice break for Di!"

"What d'you mean, a break?" "Oh, don't look so surly, Danny! You know as well as the rest of us that Di's on the loose! And, between us, I don't think it's the baby, though that was rotten enough luck to make her feel like doing anything! I think she's fed up on Bill Arden—why wouldn't she be? He's simply stuffy! And if that is the way it is—well, Jimmie Mason's top drawer in case you don't know it, snoozy! all that; just the kind to play 'round with—"

"You make me sick," said Danny and turned abruptly away from her. Which was all he knew to do, to help Diane.

Jimmie Mason was murmuring against Diane's hair: "Know I've been waiting for this since the moment I saw you arrive?"

Diane was still staring eyes up to him. Show him you know all the answers! Drink of the moment's thrill—the mad swing of the music, the eyes watching. Someone will tell Sadie Poole, probably Vicky—she's turning green with envy. You've captured the lion; he'll be wanting to show you the moon—is there a moon tonight? No, you're slipping. Di! It'll be his plane—he'll go with him, you'll go up with him, just a little, little ride, and Sadie will know—

And later, much later, when you're back in the apartment, in your bed, and the darkness crowds on you, there will be the two little pills to take—

"Swell night outside," Jimmie Mason's hand on her arm drew her toward the night.

Carrie was still coming in, in the morning to get breakfast, in the afternoon to prepare dinner. Diane usually slept late mornings, a heavy sleep, induced by the pills which Doctor Phelps had prescribed for her after the baby died. About ten o'clock she would drink coffee, then telephone to Lois or Wilma. "I'll be 'round as soon as I'm dressed."

More often than not there was no one to eat Carrie's dinners. Diane would telephone: "Tell Mr. Arden I will not be home." And Bill: "Tell Mrs. Arden that I will be held at the office." Or it might be a meeting he had to attend.

Party Honors Tenth Birthday

Mrs. William Carter complimented her daughter, Shirley Ann, on her tenth birthday, Tuesday evening, between the hours of seven and nine, when she invited a group of her playmates to participate in the joyous occasion.

Two games led by the honor guest were thoroughly enjoyed. Prizes in these were awarded Virginia Layman and Kathryn Hackett.

A beautiful array of gifts were presented to Shirley Ann by the guests, which were responded to sweetly.

The dining room table, decorated in pink and white was used to seat the group for the serving of the delicious collation, and was centered with the birthday cake ablaze with ten tapers.

Guests were Darlene and Marlene Thornton, Jane Van Voorhis, Kathryn and Mary Ann Hackett, Linda Matthews, Virginia Layman, Janet Ludwick, Dianne Everhart, Barbara and Evelyn Cooper and the honor guest's small brother, Ronnie.

Older guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Carter.

Mrs. Carter was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. John Carter.

Berean Circle Class Meeting

The Berean Circle Class of Jeffersonville Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Jessie Reese, and she was assisted by several members of the class in extending the hospitalities of her spacious home.

Forty members and guests assembled at the noon hour for a covered dish luncheon consisting of a tempting array of viands served buffet style from one lone table in the dining room, lace cloth covered and centered with a lovely arrangement of roses. The group found their places informally at small tables throughout the rooms also beautifully decorated with summer flowers.

The business meeting was opened by Miss Louise Fultz, who read an interesting sketch and introduced the new minister, Reverend Clarence P. Miller, who led in the group singing of a hymn. Reverend Miller conducted impressive devotionals using as his topic, Scripture reading from the book of St. Matthew. Another song, "I Need Thee Every Hour" was sung in unison followed with prayer by Reverend Miller to close this period.

Miss Louise Fultz asked for the usual reports which were accepted. During the business the president appointed several committees, and among them a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Jessie Reese, Mrs. Bertha Hoppes and Mrs. Belle Thomas, who will select officers for coming year. The visiting committee was also appointed and they are Mrs. Marie Thompson, Miss Helen Fultz and Miss Maude Wood. A splendid report from the "Good Cheer Committee" was given by Mrs. Ora Booco and Mrs. Maude Straley. Mrs. Edna French, secretary, read several cards of appreciation from members receiving gifts throughout the past three months, this bringing the interesting meeting to a close.

New Pastor To Be Honored

Members of the congregation of the Jeffersonville Church will honor their new pastor, Reverend Clarence P. Miller and Mrs. Miller on Sunday with a reception at the church at eight o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. S. Max Thomas is in charge of the arrangements and a special program is to be given by Miss Donna Smith, organist, Mrs. Marvin DeMent, Mr. and Mrs. Max Morrow, Mr. Vernon Mason, Miss Lois Ervin, Miss Margaret Dowler and Mr. Richard Owen, vocalists, piano solos by Miss Ruth Eleanor Wiseman and organ and piano duets by Miss Smith and Miss Norma Jean Wilt.

Dinner Precedes Sorority Meeting

Members of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority enjoyed a delicious covered dish dinner on Wednesday evening at the Fairground Roadside park and roasted weiners around an open fire.

Following the dinner, the president, Miss Beverly Long, conducted a short business meeting around the fire, during which further discussion was held on the play, "Tillie From Texas," to be presented by members of the sorority, August 8, at the high school auditorium. Committees were appointed by the president, and they are advertising, Miss Dixie Lou Graves; programs, Miss Betty Chaney; and stage properties, Mrs. Samuel Wilson. The meeting was closed with the closing ritual.

The next meeting will be held July 2 at the American Legion Hall.

Foe of Plow Proposes New Farming Plan

Quality of Crops
Deteriorating with Present Type, Claim

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK — The finest conceivable vegetables, grains, fruits and meats at costs everybody will be able to pay are forecast by Edward H. Faulkner, of Elyria, Ohio, in a new book, "A Second Look," (University of Oklahoma Press.)

This farm utopia is based on a change in agricultural practices which Faulkner says will relieve farmers of fertilizers, lime, legumes for crop rotation and the equipment and materials for pest campaigns.

Faulkner's revolutionary ideas were first advanced in 1943 in a book "Plowman's Folly," that declared present practices of deep plowing was ruining American farm soil. The book caused many practical farmers to make some changes, drew a lot of criticism, and "A Second Look" is the sequel.

Faulkner is a farmer who has been a county agent in agriculture and a soil and crop investigator for many years.

Even the taste of much present day farm food has deteriorated, he asserts.

"We have succeeded," he writes, "in keeping crop yields

Barry Fitzgerald, Diana Lynn and Sonny Tufts star in Paramount's new comedy-romance, "Easy Come, Easy Go," arriving next Sunday at the State Theatre.

Reported to be his funniest role to date, Fitzgerald is cast as a slick, sly scoundrel with a weakness for easy money and the life that goes with it. He stops at nothing to keep from going to work and to keep his daughter, Diana Lynn from marrying the penniless Sonny Tufts.

Dick Foran, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins and Frank Faylen appear in supporting roles in the film.

high enough to withhold our population from the grave, but the quality of our farm products has not been high enough to keep most of our people out of dentists' and doctors' offices."

He claims that improper agricultural practices, including too deep plowing, have been responsible for much erosion, for ground and some changes in planting practices. Then soil would be built the same as nature made it, with the aid of many organic acids of decay that would extract fertilizer essentials from the minerals already present in the earth. This, he says, would be a long-range plan, but a practical one that would reduce farm costs.

The big point, he says, is to regain the biological activity of soil, and he holds that when properly handled the earth itself, with what it grows, is completely self-sufficient.

FACTS

GAS HOUSE-HEATING

The natural gas supply situation for next winter is still serious and doubtful. The rapid expansion of industrial uses of gas during the war years, and the strong demand for manufactured goods, and the growing popularity of automatic gas heating for homes—these would all be reason enough for the natural gas shortage. But the critical shortage of pipe, meters, compressors and other equipment and of skilled technicians have made it impossible to keep up with demand.

Improvement Program Delayed by Shortages

Our suppliers are doing all in their power to speed their extensive expansion program and put in operation additional facilities now under construction. But because building new pipelines does take time and materials and manpower, we must ask the continued patience of customers who would like to convert from other fuels to gas heating.

Sale of gas heating equipment to those now having other forms of heating cannot be resumed until gas supplies delivered to this area are adequate for all.

Only the wholehearted cooperation of consumers who want to convert to gas heat, and of gas space heating dealers, can protect the service to existing customers. It looks now as if it might be another 15 to 18 months before increased gas transmission facilities will be adequate to correct the shortage experienced last winter.

Few exceptions to "No-change-over" policy

Our temporary policy restricting change-over from other heating fuels to gas has been cleared with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. In accordance with government policy, exceptions are:

1. Cases where there is satisfactory evidence of unusual hardship involving permanent disability or infirmity.
2. Newly constructed veterans' housing with heating equipment exclusively designed for gas is eligible for gas heating, provided proper application is cleared with the Company.
3. Worn-out gas heating equipment in existing buildings may be replaced provided the gas burning capacity is not increased.

ATTENTION, All Gas Space Heating Dealers

Your continued cooperation will help protect the community against the danger of insufficient gas service for existing consumers. It will reduce the danger of widespread unemployment that might result from over extension of the use of the present supply of natural gas for next winter.

The Company at all times considers as its first obligation the maintenance of adequate service to all present consumers. Probable government allocation of natural gas next winter is a factor that must be considered.

Possibilities For Air Service Here Take Form

Decision of CAB
On Feeder Lines
To Be Made Soon

The result of many months of effort to establish regular feeder lines for commercial service in Washington C. H. probably will be known by the end of this month, perhaps within the next few days.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has let it be known that a decision on the requests for feeder lines that have come from Ohio cities and towns may be announced before July 1, according to reliable reports from the nation's capital.

Reps. McGregor and Burke, Ohio Republicans, said they wanted to obtain flying service between cities not on the major cross-country routes. They said they were not recommending a particular air line.

Burke said it was pointed out to the board "that authorization had been granted for 15 feeder air lines in 32 other states, the majority of which have a smaller population and fewer substantial cities than does Ohio."

The economy drive that is now gathering momentum in Congress may have considerable bearing on the future. A bi-partisan demand for more money to build up the nation's airport system looms as a sizeable obstacle, however.

GOP leaders conceded privately that Rep. Rooney (D-NY) would succeed in putting over his amendment to add $4,849,000 for air traffic control towers in 150 cities to an omnibus $535,728,008 supply bill.

Democrats were ready to follow that up with another amendment which would restore $32,500,000 the appropriations committee lopped off a $65,000,000 budget estimate for federal aid airport building throughout the country.

Despite these two fights the leadership planned a final vote during the day on the bill financing the state, justice and commerce departments and the federal courts for the fiscal year starting July 1.

All-American Aviation, Inc., has announced its intention of expanding its air mail and express pick-up service throughout the Ohio River valley.

It is to such a service as this that proponents of air service here have looked for development of their plans—which admittedly are not in concrete form.

The Chamber of Commerce has been taking an active part in the program, but the progress made to date has been slowed somewhat by public apathy and the estimated cost of facilities that would meet requirements.

A special C of C committee headed by Don Gibson has met with technical advisors, both official and unofficial, a number of times to discuss airport plans.

Enlargement of French's Washington Airport has been considered.

users and officials to reduce still further the "appalling" annual toll.

"We have won a major victory in the campaign against carelessness," said Mr. Truman in an address prepared for the opening session of his second highway safety conference.

Noting that at least 6,500 lives were saved last year as measured against "the black record" of prewar 1941, when 40,000 fatalities occurred, Mr. Truman declared the safety campaign is "well started, but it is by no means done."

"Last year 33,500 men, women and children died as a result of highway accidents, and well over

1,000,000 were injured," he said. "That is a tribute to inefficiency this nation cannot afford to pay."

Mr. Truman urged improvements in the state licensing of drivers.

Railroads See End of Freight Car Shortage

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads said today the end of the freight car shortage is in sight.

Warren C. Kendall, chairman of the association's car service division, said the railroads have "assurances" that materials "will shortly be available for building as many as 10,000 new cars per month."

This would compare with an average of 3,000 per month built for the last 20 months, Kendall said.

Would Reduce Sentences of Bank Robbers

New Holland Farce Recalled by New Court Move

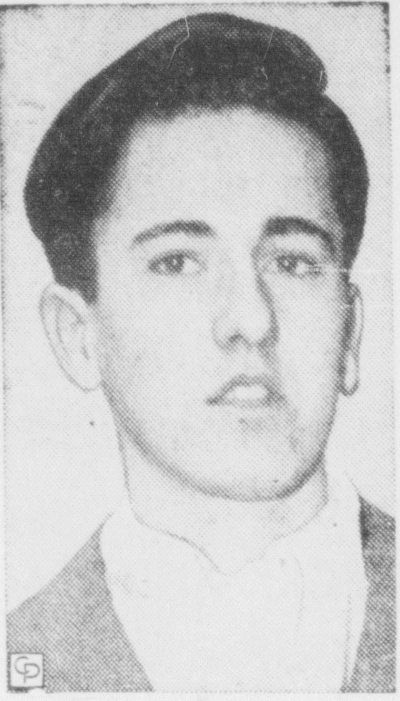

An effort to reduce the long prison terms imposed upon the three youths who attempted to hold up the New Holland bank several weeks ago, but failed after a "comedy of errors," has been launched by officials of the Chillicothe Reformatory and others.

As a result of recommendations from the reformatory officials, U.S. Attorney Ray J. O'Donnell has filed a motion in federal court at Columbus asking Judge Mell G. Underwood to reduce the heavy sentences given the three Springfield youths for their laughable attempt to rob the New Holland institution.

Two of the three, Donald A. Neff, 17, and Carson L. Rice, 18, were given 18-year terms in the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe, and the third, Charles R. Maley, 23, was given 20 years in Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary.

They pleaded guilty to charges of bank robbery. The attempt failed when a pistol Rice was holding fell apart.

O'Donnell acted after receiving a letter from Theron L. Caudle, assistant attorney general, quoting officials at the Chillicothe reformatory as saying Rice and Neff

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, goody, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

terms of imprisonment were somewhat shorter," Caudle wrote. "It is noted that both of these defendants had previous criminal records, but the attempted bank robbery appears to have been made with little or no planning and the defendants' actions while they were attempting to rob the bank indicated that they did not comprehend the seriousness of their actions."

"The bank employees, too, reacted in such a way to show that they were not particularly intimidated by the defendants, who were armed. This was probably due to their youthful appearance and due also to the gun Rice was holding fell apart, exactly at the wrong moment."

"The 18-year sentences imposed upon defendants Neff and Rice are less than the maximum authorized by statute. But, considering the comparative youthfulness of the defendants, if there is any possibility that on such grounds, the court may wish to ameliorate their punishment, the time within which such action may be had is limited to the period of 60 days from the date sentence was imposed, viz: June 20, 1947."

The three were sentenced April 21.

Although Caudle's letter mentioned only Neff and Rice, specifically in a plea for reduction, the motion filed by Assistant Attorney Loren G. Windom, for O'Donnell included all three.

Japs Not Ready For Democracy Patriarch Says

Politicians Blamed For Much Trouble in Setting Up Reforms

By RUSSELL BRINES

ZUSHI, Japan. —(P)—Japan's sulphurous-tongued patriarch of politics—a law maker in two centuries—believes his people are far from ready for this new thing called democracy.

"Democracy? Bah! the people have got to have some sense first. They don't even know who they are voting for yet."

That statement, made to an interviewer from the cold height of Yukio Ozaki, 89 years, is typical of the patriarch. He is blunt, sharp of tongue and unorthodox. Listen to him:

"Nothing much has changed (since he served in Japan's first diet 67 years ago). Politicians are still the same. They are always fighting for themselves."

"What can be done to improve the government? First, get rid of all political parties. They clutter up everything with their own battles. Parties are good, especially a half dozen of the like Japan has now."

"I quit parties along about the time of the first World War. Been an independent ever since. Glad of it."

Ozaki is pretty well known outside Japan. As mayor of Tokyo he presented the famed cherry trees to Washington more than 30 years ago. He has been a member of every diet since the first one in 1880. He held cabinet positions so long ago he even forgels the dates.

Ozaki is preparing for the next convening of parliament June 23. It will be his and Japan's 93rd.

Government leaders frequently come to his rambling house in this resort town southwest of Tokyo. They want advice, and the old man gives it to them with a frankness rare in this country.

Ozaki looks sourly on the forthcoming diet session, the first under the new constitution, and believes

It will be like all the ones that went before—"mostly talk."

"The people," he says, "have to be taught something about government before they can run it."

"Take my boy over there (67-year-old Yukiteru Ozaki). He got twice as many votes for the house of councillors as I did for the house of representatives last election. People thought they were voting for me. Call that democracy?"

What would happen if the occupation forces pulled out of Japan suddenly? "Anarchy, absolute anarchy," Ozaki replies without hesitation or amplification.

The voters who have been returning Ozaki to the house of representatives regularly rarely see him. He made his first campaign speeches in more than 10 years during the Hideki Tojo election in 1942.

"The militarists almost got me," he says.

The other day an elderly man climbed on the back of a truck in Tokyo and proceeded to tell a small crowd what they should do to run the government. Those who heard him said his advice was pungent and direct.

"That was one of my best speeches," said Yukio Ozaki. "The people listened."

Historic Role Being Regained By Frankfurt

American-British
Occupation Work
Centers in Old City

By JON DOANE
FRANKFURT, Germany—Frankfurt's selection as the economic capital of the merged American and British occupation zones promises to restore this historic city to the eminence it held for a thousand years.

Its red stone buildings where medieval emperors were crowned have been bombed to ruins. Sixty percent of the city was destroyed or damaged. 435,000 citizens live tightly packed in surviving dwellings at an average of 2.7 persons per habitable room.

The United States Army of Occupation headquarters uses the city's largest and best buildings. Housing and office space are critically scarce.

Yet, civic leaders welcome the impending influx of thousands of new residents who will move in with the five bi-zonal economic agencies.

Whispers of Separatist Capital
Perhaps, some Germans whisper Frankfurt may become not only the economic but also the political capital of western Germany—and a rival of Berlin—if the western allies are unable to agree with Russia on reuniting all four occupation zones. So far, however, British and American authorities discourage such separatist talk, which is irritating to Moscow.

Frankfurt—home of the poet Goethe and the banker Rothschild, leading city in the development of banking and printing, seat of several liberal political movements in German history—actually pre-dates Berlin in significance.

Frankfurt was a favorite residence of Holy Roman emperors from Charles the Great in the eighth century, and for six centuries from 1152 until Napoleon's era it was the empire's electoral city. Coronations took place in the stately cathedral whose beautiful spire still towers over a vista of ruins.

Commercial and Financial Center
Favored by its strategic location on the Main river near its confluence with the Rhine, Frankfurt also became the commercial capital of Germany. From the twelfth century its fairs drew merchants from all Europe.

Its financiers set the pace in the transformation of medieval money-changing to modern banking. The city's still active stock exchange was founded as early as 1585. In the nineteenth century, Mayer Rothschild established the powerful financial house which later held mortgages on half the thrones of Europe.

But residents like to stress their cultural and democratic traditions. The newspaper Frankfurter Zeitung, founded in 1856, remained until Hitler's time one of the nation's leading exponents of a free press.

Frankfurter has had long experiences in self government. It became a "free city" in 1372 and except for brief intermissions retained that freedom until 1866 when Bismarck extended Prussia's iron rule westward to the Rhine in the unification of Germany.

In the German confederation of the nineteenth century, it was the confederation's capital—and also the center of its opposition liberal movement.

It was in Frankfurt that liberals revolted and in the national assembly of 1848 created Germany's first constitutional, democratic government. This attempt failed within a year, but Frankfurt remained a comparative hotbed of liberalism.

World War II reduced much of the city to rubble. The Roemerberg, a famous medieval square was gutted. The homes of Goethe and the Rothschilds were razed. The cathedral was badly damaged. Bridges across the Main river were destroyed and there is only one vehicular bridge now open.

Hundreds of the city's 6,000 bombing casualties are still buried under rubble.

To meet the housing and office needs of the bi-zonal economic capital, Frankfurt officials have been assured of military government help in obtaining building materials.

distributing leaflets headed 'Soldiers who fought against the USSR in 1941-45' and containing the defense testimony of the executed president of Slovakia, Dr. Josef Tiso.

The leaflets were distributed throughout all Slovakia, where the trial and conviction of Tiso aroused widespread dispute. Some were found on the graves of former premier Bela Tuka Otmar Kubala, chief of the Nazi-patterned Slovak Hlinka guard, both of whom were executed.

The ministry said some of those arrested were civil employees and others had fought against Russia in Slovak divisions of the German army under Tiso's presidency.

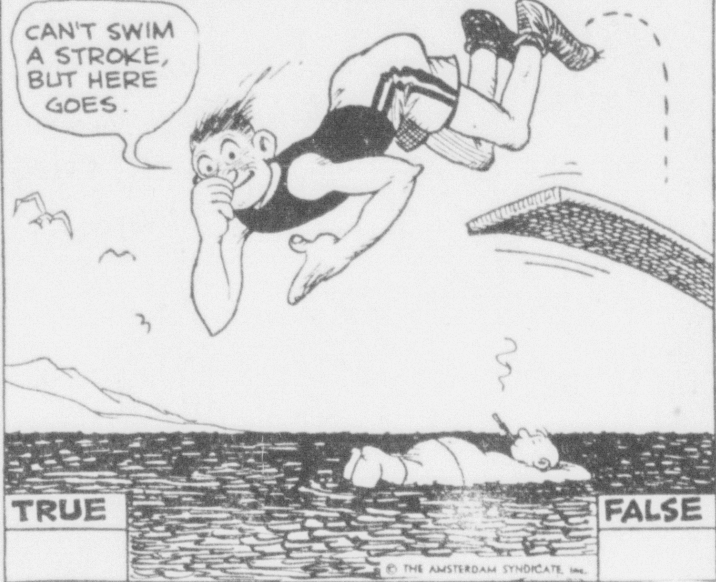

In 1946 more than a trillion dollars in checks were handled by U. S. banks.

Scouts Finish Collections Of Waste Paper

7,298 Pounds Picked Up By Energetic Scout Troops

The Boy Scouts wound up a successful four-week paper drive, Leo Fisher, scout commissioner said today as he announced the total poundage and money collected during the campaign.

Four troops and cub scout packs throughout the city worked for four Saturdays collecting paper, which they sold to the Wackman Junk Yard. The money will be used for uniforms, probably, Fisher said.

The total amount of paper collected from the city's four wards on four successive Saturdays was 7,298 pounds. This netted the scouts a total of $47.71. Fisher said that the cubs were allotted one-fourth of the money while the remainder was prorated among the troops on the number of boys who showed up for each collection.

The cubs received $10.42; troop 152 got $7.47; troop 32, 75 cents; troop 64, $5.29; and troop 112, $14.53. Fisher said that troop 170 did not participate in any of the drives.

The troops took one ward each Saturday, the cub-scouts preceding them on Friday putting cards on door knobs notifying householders of the drive. Fisher said no more drives will be held until the first Saturday in August. This arrangement is to allow for vacations and scout work at the county fair in July. Fisher said that more paper was collected from ward two than from any other in the city. Ward two gave 2,635 pounds.

Fisher said that 29 boys participated in the campaign.

The paper was sold for 60 cents per 100 pounds, while magazines brought 75 cents for every 100 pounds, Fisher said.

Gospel Singers Come Here Sunday

The Ohio Gospel Singers of Dayton today were scheduled to give a program at the Second Baptist Church on Columbus Avenue Sunday afternoon following a chicken dinner to be served in the church from noon until 2 P. M.

Chester Coble, who grew up himself in Washington C. H., is one of the organizers of the Gospel Singers. Now a resident of Dayton, where he has been employed in an industrial plant since early in the war, he also is the manager of this group of religious singers.

The Gospel Singers have not only given many concerts in Dayton, but also have appeared in many other central Ohio cities, including Washington C. H. some time ago.

When Coble lived here he was known to hundreds for his warbling whistle. But it was not until he went to Dayton that he branched out into vocal music.

The program here is being sponsored by Rev. J. P. Burnett, the church pastor, and Leroy Wilson, one of the church workers and friend of Coble.

Tickets for the dinner, which are now being offered by members of the church, also take care of the afternoon program.

Red Faced Actor Confesses Hoax

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 19—(P)—It was all a mistake, actor Jon Hall sheepishly admitted today—that story about him and his actress-wife, Frances Langford, being aboard a plane that was forced down by rifle fire at Clover Field Sunday.

A 14-year-old boy who said he was shooting rabbits was questioned by police after the plane landed with a bullet mark on its propeller.

Asked about the matter later by reporters, Hall acknowledged that he gave out the hoax story. "I was confused," he explained, "his face pretty red. The story got started somehow and I didn't think it would do any harm to let it ride. It was an awful mistake. I'm terribly sorry."

Hall operates a flying service at the field as a sideline.

30 Years As Mayor At End for Hague

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 19—(P)—Amid swirling spotlights, the burst of aerial bombs and the blare of five brass bands, Frank Hague stood on a flag-draped platform surrounded by six-foot floral wreaths and accepted the plaudits of some 13,000 followers Tuesday night as he abdicated the mayoralty post he had held for 30 consecutive years.

Hailed as "the champ of them all," the retiring mayor stood stately among members of his official family while the shouting through punctuated more than two hours of laudatory addresses with frequent bursts of whistles and cheers.

Bender Employee Death Pronounced Suicide

Department Heads To Be Named Soon

COLUMBUS, June 19—(P)—A new state liquor director, health director and liquor board member will be named before adjournment of the legislature June 30. Gov. Thomas J. Herbert indicated today.

"I have asked Senate leaders to have a quorum back here June 30 so it can act upon the appointments," he said.

Resignations by Stanley B. Coffey of Cleveland as state liquor director and by Dr. Roger Heering as state health director and the recent death of William F. Hess of Cincinnati made the appointments necessary.

Blackwell Pitches No-Hit Game As Reds Shut Out Braves 6 to 0

By JACK HAND (By The Associated Press) Ewell Blackwell's no-hitter against the Boston Braves has established the lanky Cincinnati side arm artist as the No. 1 pitcher in the National League.

Half way to his announced goal of 20 wins in his second major league season, the rangy right-hander from San Dimas, Calif., has etched his name on the honor roll along with other pitching greats.

Most of the righthanded hitters in the league would name "Blacky" as their toughest problem because his sinking side-wheel delivery is on top of them before they know what is coming. Yet, last night, Boston's Billy Southworth threw a heavily lefthanded batting order against him and the results were the same.

Of Blackwell's 10 wins, the last eight have been racked up in succession. He is the only pitcher in the majors to have defeated every other club in the league at least once. The no-hit-no-run 6 to 0 job against the Braves was his third shutout of the season. It was the lanky California's first night game of the season, and he and first baseman Babe Young were about all Cincinnati needed. While Blackwell stopped the Braves from getting anywhere at all, Young twice clouted homers over the right field wall after Baumholtz had singled and Hatton walked. Blackwell conceded after it was all over and 18,000 frantic fans had quieted from hoarseness, that he felt "a little tight" when "Bama Rowell" came up, the last man between him and a no-hitter.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. DETROIT, June 19—(AP)—Although Jimmy Demaret and Claude Harmon are better than fair hands at crooning, little Clarence Doser, who took the applause from them in the PGA tournament yesterday, doesn't even sing in the shower. "I have no aspirations in that line," he insisted when the boys asked him about his musical accomplishments. . . . Demaret and Harmon, who had 68's to Doser's 67 on the links, tuned up their pipes as well as their strokes for the tourney. Jimmy, via a recording, took part in Bing Crosby's radio show last night and Claude, who used to sing with Bob Crosby's band, grabbed the mike at a local night spot Tuesday evening. . . . P. S. Any of the pros will moan, musically or otherwise, when they get a bad break or two that costs them some tournament cash.

CLOSED CORPORATION Doser, a little guy who admits he drives "only about as far as the average pro," is a nephew of George Christ, veteran Rochester, N. Y., golf teacher who developed Walter Hagen as a tournament star. . . . "Whenever Hagen used to come to town, I used to caddy for him," Clarence says.

DIVOT DIGGING Plum Hollow, in case you don't know, is the name of the ritzy golf club where they're playing the PGA tournament. . . . Bobby Locke, who nearly got into a jam for cleaning his ball on the green during the open golf qualifying rounds, still rolls it absently in his hand when he has occasion to pick it up on the green. . . . The golfers who came in as replacements or added starters had a fair day. They included Al Watrous who shot a 71, Jimmy Thomson, 72, and Reggie Myles, 73.

Knothole League Has Three Games

Playing morning and afternoon on three different fields, the Junior Knothole League teams got in three games Wednesday.

Out at Eastside, the home team took a 9 to 3 beating from the boys from Rose Avenue in the morning and in the afternoon at Wilson Field the Eastsiders were on the short end of a 22 to 13 score in their game with the team from Sunnyside.

In the other afternoon game, the Rose Avenue boys, playing in their own back yard, were nosed out 5 to 4 by the Cherry Hill outfit.

Lady Ryoff Does It Again

That very durable and consistent trotter, Lady Ryoff, has done it again.

Owned by Anderson Brothers of Washington C. H. and trained by A. G. Gordon at the Fairgrounds here, she has started four times at the current race meet at Troy and has not been out of the money. Her time has not broken any records, but she manages to get in for the payoff. She won her first two starts and was second in the next two. Driven by her trainer, she came through in the 27 trot Wednesday night to place, nosed out of the win by Florian, co-favorite in the betting. She paid the minimum, $2.20 to place and show.

Red Birds Win From Saints In 11th Inning

(By The Associated Press)

Pitcher Earl Reid, who won 10 games and lost two for Indianapolis in 1946, turned upon his old American Association mates at Milwaukee last night, allowing the Indians a lone infield hit in the Brewers' 4 to 0 triumph.

An infield single by Ben Guinetti, Indianapolis left fielder in the second inning deprived Reid of a no-hitter. He issued five bases on balls, struck out two. Tom Weill's triple accounted for a Brewer run in the first inning and he scored another in the seventh after tripling again.

Ken Jungles, veteran Minneapolis right hander, pitching his first game in a month, subdued Toledo 2 to 1 with seven hits.

Bill Baker, Columbus catcher, broke up a Red Bird-St. Paul 11-inning pitching duel between Otey Clark and Johnny Gabbard by hitting a long fly ball to center field and permitting Barney Olson to score after the catch to give the Birds a 2 to 1 decision. Clark and Gabbard each went the full 11 innings. The Saints run down on George Fallon's homer in the fourth.

Louisville knocked Kansas City's Clarence Marshall out of the box with a five-run spurge in the fourth innings, but the Blues came back with two in the fifth to clinch the game, 10 to 8. The contest was called at the end of the eighth to allow the Colonels to catch a train.

DETROIT, June 19 — (AP) — Clarence Dosier, stocky little Hartsdale, N. Y., par buster who has been a professional golfer more than half his 38 years, led a star-spangled field into the final 18-hole qualifying round of the National PGA Championship today.

With a ringing first-round 34-33-67, five under par, he headed the parade of 138 pros. Claude Harmon and Jimmy Demaret were one stroke back.

Doser, who failed to qualify in the 1946 PGA scramble at Portland, Ore., but who was a semifinalist at Dayton, Ohio, in 1945, flapped home six birdies, three of them on putts of two feet or less, to lead for the Alex Smith Memorial Trophy which goes to the medalist here.

There were 21 scores which bettered par and 19 more which equalled it.

Camp Wohelo On Rattlesnake Opens June 30

Girls Making Plans For Camp Life in Short Time

Camp Wohelo, the Campfire Girls' camp on Rattlesnake Creek, is due to open June 30, said Mrs. Tom Bush, camp director, today as she announced that she is now taking applications for the week periods and the bluebird two-day camp periods.

Camp Wohelo was formerly Dr. J. H. Persinger's summer camp, which he opened to the Campfire Girls when it was discovered that they would not be allowed to attend camps in other counties because of the large enrollment in the organization this year.

Mrs. Bush has asked that all girls who expect to attend the camp mail their checks to her before June 27. The girls are also required to have a signed application from their parents approving the camp and their daughters' attendance.

The first camp period, for girls from 12 to 14, will begin June 30 and last through July 5. The second period, for girls from 11 to 13, will begin July 7 and last through July 12. Girls from 10 to 12 will attend camp from July 14 to 19. Camp for girls 10 years old and younger will be July 21 to July 26. July 28 through August 2 will be opened for girls from 12 years and older. The last week camp will be from August 4 through 9 for girls 12 and under.

Bluebird camps will last for two days. The children will arrive in the morning, stay one night and return home after lunch the next day. The camp periods will be August 11 and 12, 13 and 14 and 15 and 16.

Girls have been asked to bring a pillow, a sheet, two blankets, and a cup of sugar, in addition to camp clothes, Campfire uniforms, Campfire notebooks and the Book of Campfire Girls.

Each group of girls will leave from the high school gym at 9 A. M. on the first day of camp.

The case was certified to the juvenile court for further attention. The parties were married August 28, 1943.

Boy Burglar Held In Tennessee

A 17-year old boy, William Samuel Hall, of Niles, who burglarized the Medo-Pure Dairy on Leesburg Avenue, April 3 and obtained $15 in cash, is now being held by the F. B. I. in Tennessee, where he entered a Federal Bank and stole $120.

The boy admitted several minor crimes, including the burglary in this city.

F. B. I. officers who notified Chief Valden Long, said that the boy would be dealt with in Tennessee, inasmuch as he had committed an offence against the federal government when he entered the bank building.

Charles V. Fisher Is Now Corporal

Awarded the Purple Heart for injuries he received during the invasion of Burma in May, 1944, Private First Class Charles V. Fisher, 24, of Washington C. H., was promoted to the grade of corporal at Hickman Field, Hawaii, this month by the Enlisted Men's Promotion Board. Corporal Fisher is a member of the 308 Airdrome Squadron and is assigned to the transportation section of the Hawaiian Air Materiel Area.

Corporal Fisher entered the army in 1943 and went to aerial gunnery school at Westover, Mass., from where he was sent to the China-Burma Theater as a B-25 gunner. He was promoted to private first class in April, 1944, while stationed at Kuming, China. While a member of the 900th Airborne Engineers, he received a compound fracture of the left arm and a fracture of the right leg when his glider crashed in the Burma invasion. ### Forced To Remove Dead Ground Hog Thrown Into Street

A girl, 16, and boy, 12, whose names were not disclosed, learned Thursday morning that it is not a good policy to throw such things as a dead ground hog into the streets.

While Police Chief Valden Long was driving on Temple Street he saw something thrown from a car some distance ahead.

When he reached the spot, Chief Long saw it was a dead ground hog, so he started after the car from which the woodchuck had been tossed.

The car was overtaken after a two or three miles drive into the country, and the pair required to return to the scene, take the ground hog and make other disposition of it. The girl was at the wheel of the car.

Chief Long warned the pair that throwing anything upon the streets is a violation of city ordinance, and to watch their step after this.

Wrecked Bridge Removed From Bed of Stream

Temporary Structure May Be Erected On U. S. 22

All of the superstructure of the wrecked bridge over North Fork of Paint Creek just east of this city, on Route 22, which collapsed Tuesday afternoon, was removed Wednesday, leaving the floor still in the yawning chasm between the two abutments.

Thursday workmen were busy removing the floor which formed a serious obstruction to the stream, and the work was to be completed during the day, if possible.

The entire floor remained intact with not a single break in it, and was resting on the surface of the water, the steel beams supporting it having held the floor proper above the water.

A State Highway crew, armed with torches and a crane, made short work of removing the superstructure, as the steel rods and beams were severed by the flame and lifted to the east bank by the crane.

Wednesday Walter Johnson, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, and other officials from Columbus and Delaware, were here going over the situation and laying plans for bridging the stream.

Tentative plans discussed are for erecting a temporary structure over the stream and later replace it with a modern one such as had been planned for many years.

If this is done the structure will be arranged that it can be moved and used for a detour while the new bridge is being installed, it is indicated.

Work of building a temporary bridge would require several weeks, but inasmuch as the route is a federal one and carries a vast amount of traffic, it is expected the highway department will move quickly to replace the bridge.

Building Permits Are Low This Week

A decided slump in building in Washington C. H. was noted today by the city auditor's office as only two building permits, neither of them for dwellings, had been issued since June 12.

The first of these was issued June 14 to A. F. McMurray. The permit calls for a cement block garage to be built by McMurray on lot 21 of the Graves subdivision on Broadway Street. The estimated cost of the building, which will be 26 feet by 26 feet, is $500. The lot is 42 by 165 feet. The permit is due to last until September 14.

The second permit was issued to the Hook and Sons Funeral Home to construct an upstairs enclosed porch on the present funeral home which is located on the corner of South North Street and East Street. The permit was issued to last from June 14 to September 14.
